Subject: Protect salmon from LNG

There is no future in LNG, we need to concentrate on developing energy sources that are renewable and which don't require the horrific devastation that LNG production entails.

Therefore to build an LNG plant in an area that is so important to the health and vitality of our salmon population makes absolutely no sense at all. There is no way such a plant could not have a negative and far reaching effect on the salmon run.

The First Nations of this area must be respected for their right to refuse this project, it cannot go forward without their permission so the government needs to recognize this.

Sincerely,

Maureen Campbell
