Dear Mr. Tremblay:

Re: Bill C-39, the Building Canada Strong Act, and Potential Implications for the Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission

Thank you for your letter, per Reference 1, outlining the proposed changes contained within Bill C-39 and the potential implications for the Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission's role in the federal review process. Bruce Power appreciates the CNSC's effort to keep proponents informed as the legislative process unfolds.

Bruce Power values the strong and constructive working relationship that has been established with the CNSC throughout the review of the proposed Bruce C Nuclear Project. Bruce Power also appreciates the Commission's continued commitment to maintaining an efficient, predictable, and rigorous review process and to serving as a transparent and accessible regulator.

While recognizing that Bill C-39 remains before Parliament and may be subject to further consideration and amendment, Bruce Power is encouraged by the Government of Canada's focus on streamlining the major project review process and supporting timely reviews of major projects. Bruce Power recognizes that a clear, timely, and effective regulatory framework plays a critical role in attracting investment, strengthening Canada's energy future, and enabling the development of projects that contribute to economic growth, energy security, and clean electricity objectives.

Should the proposed legislative changes ultimately come into force, Bruce Power looks forward to working collaboratively with the CNSC and other federal partners to support their successful implementation. Bruce Power is optimistic that the proposed framework could create new opportunities to advance major projects in Canada while continuing to uphold the highest standards of safety, environmental protection, Indigenous engagement, and public confidence. Thank you again for your correspondence and for the ongoing professionalism and dedication of CNSC staff. Bruce Power looks forward to continuing constructive engagement as the review of the Bruce C Nuclear Project progresses and as further information regarding Bill C-39 becomes available.

Yours truly,
